

The rule of three: The arrangement should include three main elements:

- Shin: The tallest element, placed in the centre, and representing heaven. It should be about twice the height of the vase.
- Soe: The supporting element, placed on the left side of the shin, and representing earth. It should be about two-thirds the length of the shin.
- Tai: The shortest element, placed on the right side of the shin, and representing humanity. It should be about half the length of the shin.
